Our happiness does not depend only on what we have, say scientists. What we realize we have is just as important. This is why the rich often seem to be sad, but people with very little can be much happier with their lives. It is surprising that we do not usually think about how lucky we are. Most of us have good health, homes, and friends. We don't notice how good life normally is until we're feeling sad about something. But we don't have to wait for something negative to happen.

Instead, we should be thankful all the time for the good things in our lives. We can do this by writing down five of them every night such as something that we own, or the people we are fond of. By repeating this every day for a month, it will become a habit. People who do this are healthier, more successful, and more satisfied with their own lives.

- Question 25: Which best serves as the title of the passage?
 A. Why poor people are happy      B. Examples of happiness
 C. Definition of happiness      D. How to become happier
- Question 26: According to paragraph 1, which of the following is NOT mentioned as something most of us have?
 A. money      B. homes      C. friends      D. health
- Question 27: The word "negative" in paragraph 1 is closest in meaning to _____.
 A. good      B. great      C. kind      D. bad
- Question 28: According to paragraph 2, what will happen when we feel thankful for the good things in our lives?
 A. We will feel dissatisfied with our lives.
C. We will be healthier and more successful.
 B. More people will be fond of us.
 D. We will be happy every day for a month.

Imagine a world where air pollution is no longer a problem. Clean air is all around us. People don't have to worry (29) _____ polluting the air every time they drive their cars. Fuel shortages are no longer a problem either.

Although scientists have been trying for decades to develop a new kind of car that does not need gasoline, they have been unsuccessful. (30) _____, automobile engineers have recently succeeded in creating a new kind of car that runs on gasoline and electricity. This is the famous "hybrid car." This car gets its name from the fact that it has a gasoline engine and an electric motor inside. Hybrid cars are less (31) _____ to the environment and cost drivers less money because they require less fuel than ordinary cars.

Hybrid cars are becoming widely popular in the United States. They are soon expected to become widely used around the world. If scientists and engineers continue to work on car development, perhaps the world with clean air that we imagined earlier just might become a (32) _____ someday.
