The tourist industry is considered to be the world's largest industry. The direct economic impact of the industry accommodation, transportation, entertainment, and attractions, is worth trillions of dollars every year. The statistics show that the number of international tourist (23) worldwide reached 1.04 billion in 2012.

Such large numbers of tourists, (24), are beginning to cause problems. For example, in the Alps the many thousands of skiers are destroying the mountains they came to enjoy. Even parts of Mount Everest in the Himalayas are reported to be covered (25) old food tins, tents, and pieces of equipment that have been thrown away. At a time when we have greater freedom to travel (26) ever before, more and more people are asking how they can enjoy their holidays without causing damage to their destinations.

Now there is a new holiday guide called Holidays That Don't Cost the Earth. It tells you how you can be a responsible tourist by asking your travel agent or your tour (27) the right questions before you book a holiday.

Safety on Foot

We've all heard it a thousand times: "Look both ways before you cross the street!". But how many people really obey this simple rule? According to the Federal Highway Administration, about 100,000 pedestrians (people traveling on foot) are hit by cars each year. It is one of the leading causes of accidental death for children. So, how can you be safe when you are walking? Follow these simple rules offered by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration:

- Always walk on the sidewalk. If there is no sidewalk and you have to walk in the street, always walk on the side that allows you to face oncoming traffic.
- Wear bright colors. You want drivers to be able to see you. If you must walk at night, be sure to wear reflective clothing or tape so that drivers can see you.
- Cross the street only at marked crosswalks or corners, and always stop at the curb before crossing. Look both ways (left, then right, then left again). If you see a car coming, wait for it to pass. Keep looking for cars as you cross.
- Walk at good pace. Never run.
