

volcano fans who were camping overnight close to the volcano. We hiked for two hundred and forty minutes to get there. Each of us was carrying our own food, water and sleeping bag, so by the time we arrived we were exhausted – but not disappointed.

We saw the first fountains of lava as we approached the camp. The camp was a safe distance from the crater, but the lava was shooting 200 meters into the air. The colors were magnificent! As we got closer, we could see the streams of red lava. They were running down the slopes of the volcano. Smoke and ash were rising into the sky. It was wonderful, but I admit it, I was a bit afraid.
